Working for God doesn't always guarantee a welcome. When the prophet Amos, from the south, showed up at the sanctuary in Bethel, about fourteen miles north of Jerusalem, the priest Amaziah was not thrilled to see him. "Go home," he shouted. ...Amos' response is interesting. "Not my idea to be here, nor to be doing this," he says. "I was a shepherd and a dresser of sycamores. The Lord told me to do this." Perhaps Jesus' disciples knew the story, since many of them were from up north- the fishermen Peter and Andrew, James and John, to be sure. And more than likely most of the others. When God calls you, you go. The same happened when Jesus came along. All he said was "Follow me" and they did. Now he sends them out, preaching, teaching, healing and casting out demons. Travel light he says. Stay where you land. Keep to the message. If they don't want it, move along. The Lord continues to send us out, as God did with prophets and Jesus did with those first disciples. The world needs the message more than ever: God wants a family that will be faithful to God, loving to each other and caring for the earth once entrusted to Adam and Eve for tending. God wants a holy people. This holiness comes as a gift from God, if we accept it. For this message to get out, messengers are needed, witnesses in word and deed. That's us.

If you did not bring your child(ren) to VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL the last week of June, they missed out on a wonderful week of faith, fun and friends. There were 183 children there from not only St. Augustine, Sacred Heart, St. Peter and FATIMA, but from other Christian churches as well. We all learned new songs with catchy tunes, new games, but the solid Bible stories that always teach us how to lead a life with Jesus. Hope you can make the event next year. Joan Leeds

Thank you to all who helped give our students this opportunity to go deeper in their faith and to the adult chaperones who give so much of their time to make this a possibility.
